Dormcomm Argues Laundry Service, Commons Feeding

Two important issues were discussed at the latest Dorm Comm meeting.

In reference to the plan originally proposed by John Van Winkle, that students be allowed to transfer their meal plan privileges from one to another by means of their registration card, the Institute has also vetoed this proposal. It is felt that such a procedure, if put into effect, would substantially increase the cost per student of the meal plan.

Bennett Sack, '53 president of the committee, announced that the anticipated change in the laundry service available in the dormitories would not be effected. Institute officials feel that one laundry in the dormitories is enough, and that having two could only lead to confusion. Also, the Institute officials feel that there are sufficient outside laundries available for the use of those students who find the services of the Boston and Suburban to be substandard.

Social Committee Reports

The social committee reported that the Baker House Dance held on Nov. 22 was a success. Attending were 71 couples and 2 turkeys which were raffled off. The committee was adjourned with the announcement that elections for Dorm Comm President will be held on February 24, 1953. The next meeting of the group will be on Dec. 8, in the Baker House.

Infiltration By Reds In N. E. Universities Told Senate Group

Communist units have been operating on the campuses of four New England colleges, including the Institute, according to testimony made before the Senate Internal Security Committee. The other colleges named are Wellesley, Smith and Harvard.

Last Saturday the committee, headed by Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, released the 412-page record of its New York hearings on Communist infiltration into the nation's educational system.

Ex-Communist Testifies

High point of the testimony was the interview with Dr. Bella V. Dodd, ex-communist official and ex-legislative representative on the Teacher's Union. Dr. Dodd stated that Communist sympathizers have organized student groups at fourteen other institutions of higher learning.

Colleges Reply

The New England colleges mentioned immediately leveled angry denials at the accusations made before the Senate committee. One college president charged that it was next to impossible to defend her school against testimony that included no names and no dates—in short, no specific charges. Dr. Killian could not be reached for comment.

COSTUME BALL

On Friday, Dec. 5, the Sportsmen's Costume Ball will be held in the Campus Room of the Graduate House. The dance, with tickets at $2.25 per couple, is limited to graduate students only, and tickets may be obtained at the Graduate House Desk.

In keeping with the "sportsmen's" theme, the band will be dressed in costume; sports equipment to be used as decorations have been borrowed from sports shops in Boston. Drinks and refreshments will be served.

Annual Dormcomm Christmas Festival To Be Held At Baker

The Dorm Social Committee will present a Christmas Formal on the night of December 12 at Baker House.

The Baker cafeteria, complete with tree, will be decorated in the true Christmas spirit. Sammy Eisen and his Orchestra will furnish the music from 8:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Song sheets will be passed out during the intermission so that all may join in the singing of Christmas carols. Spiked and unspiked punch, and plenty of fruit will be available to provide ample refreshment for even the most voluminous appetites. As an added attraction, keepsakes will be given out. Additional constructive ideas on how to make the affair more enjoyable and successful are welcomed and may be submitted to W. Kroy, Hayden 112.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained starting Tuesday, December 2, in the lobby of Building 10, at $1.75 per couple.

Logarithms To Be On Television Sunday

Last Spring the Logarithms, an octet composed of Institute undergraduates, won a contest against octets from twelve other colleges in the New England and New York area. As a result of their winning the contest they will appear on channel 4, TV this coming Sunday, December 7th at 1:00 p.m. The show will be conducted as a talent contest, and all Technology students are urged to listen and render support by sending in a postcard vote.

Religious Office Is Now Established In Walker Memorial

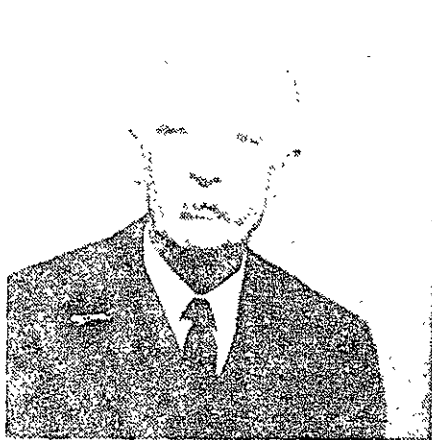

Recently established in Walker Memorial is an office in which students could consult their priest, minister, or rabbi. The office that is being used is the old WMIT news office, the room just outside of the Student Faculty Lounge on the second floor. Many religious organizations have felt a need for an office where they could consult with their own minister. The room was assigned by Paul Sheppard '53, Chairman of the Secretariat at the request of Dean Bowditch.

Four Churchmen Now Available

So far the room is only being used by services of two ministers, one priest, and one rabbi. The two ministers are the Reverend Peter R. Blynn of 25 Brimmer Street, Boston, and the Reverend Edgar D. Romig of 9 Pinckney Street, Boston. Both these men are of the Episcopal denomination. They will be available during the hours of 3-5 p.m. on Monday. Rabbi Herman Pollack of 27 Englewood Avenue, Brookline will be available on Friday afternoons, and Father J. Edward Nugent, C.S.P. of 9 Park Street, Boston will be available on Tuesday 9-12 a.m. and Thursday 2-5 p.m.

The establishment of the chaplain's room is due to the efforts of Luciano L. Mazzola '53, President of the Technology Catholic Club. He first contacted the churches involved and after receiving their permission referred the matter to Dean E. Francis Bowditch. If any religion or religious organization desires to have the services of their chaplain made available to the Technology Student Body, he should contact Mr. Mazzola at his home Al 4-6469. He will be glad to give any assistance possible.

"Ability, Not Age, The Issue In English Schools"—Livingstone

Sir Richard Livingstone

Sir Richard Livingstone, Carnegie Visiting Professor of Classical Literature in the M.I.T. Department of English and History, said in an interview with The Tech that the main difference between American and British educational methods is that, in English high schools, students advance according to their ability instead of according to their age. There are other differences in the English system such as a smaller total university enrollment (only 7,000 in all of England), a smaller percentage of students who drop out and a tendency to specialize much earlier, but the major difference is nevertheless at the high school level.

Technologists In Key Positions

Although Professor Livingstone is most famous for his understanding of the ancient Greeks who he believes are the greatest people that ever lived, he is also interested in other branches of the humanities and in education. He believes that the important position of technologists in a scientific age makes it essential for them to get a broad base in humanities, because, even though the biggest problems in the world are still human problems, technical people tend either to try to solve them without real understanding or to ignore them completely. For this reason, the professor was especially glad to come to the Institute to teach a senior humanities course and to give a series of lectures. The next lecture in this series, "Toward a Moral Philosophy," will be given next Thursday in Room 10-250. Time will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Check on Communism

Professor Livingstone is well impressed with this country, and he thinks it is the only possible check to Communism in the world. He said that Communist world domination would probably not be permanent, but it would be a big set back, because the use of thought control would retard progress even in non-political matters.

Even though his eighth-floor home in Eastgate apartments has no room for his favorite hobbies of gardening and bee keeping, the Professor and his wife are very comfortable and are enjoying this stay in America as much as any one of their many previous visits.

Proposal For Direct Election Of Inscomm Prexy Approved

Course XIII-C

A committee has been formed to help insure the reinstatement of course XIII-C which has produced many successful men in the past. Executives in the marine field have declared themselves in favor of the course. If you are interested in majoring in XIII-C, or perhaps in just taking some subjects it offers, please contact:

Tickets On Sale For Glee Club's Annual Musical

Ticket sales for the presentation of Judas Maccabaeus by the M.I.T. Symphony Orchestra, Glee Club and Choral Society began last Monday, December 1st, in the lobby of Building 10. Seat prices are 90 cents, $1.20 and $1.50. However the demand for seats at Jordan Hall has caused a huge drain on the $1.20 and $1.50 seats, leaving many 90 cent seats available. According to Lionel L. Kinney, General Manager of Technology's Student Music Department, there are virtually no bad seats in Jordan Hall.

Directions To Jordan Hall

Many Technology students have complained that they don't know where Jordan Hall is located. Taking the subway to Symphony Station is convenient and direct for anyone in the Boston-Cambridge area. Jordan Hall is located on the corner of Gainsborough Street and Huntington Ave. diagonally across from Symphony Hall. Everyone who plans to go by car are advised to have parking arrangements pre-planned since Saturday night traffic will cause some confusion in the parking facilities available.

History of The Work

A short history of the composition has been compiled by the Technology Musical Clubs. After the English armies had crushed the Stuart restoration in Scotland, Frederick, Prince of Wales, arranged celebrations in honor of the returning English armies commanded by his brother the Duke of Cumberland. Frederick enlisted the talent of the composer George Frederick Handel in composing an oratio honoring Cumberland in a transparent disguise as Judas Maccabaeus. Composition began on July 9, 1746 and was completed by August 11 of the same year.

DEBATE TEAM WINS

The Technology Debating Team defeated its Harvard rivals in a Thanksgiving Day debate at Harvard University, on the topic "Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practices law." Debating the affirmative, Kevin Forsberg, '56, and Rudolf E. Kalman, '53, represented the Institute.

Members of the Harvard team were Mr. Helperin, '55 and Mr. Olsen, '53, who is vice president of the Harvard Debate Society and ranks top in Harvard intramural debating competition. This was M.I.T.'s second win over Harvard during the last two weeks.

A motion which in effect begins provision for direct election of the president of Institute Committee by the student body was passed at the Inscomm meeting of Nov. 25.

As required by the Undergraduate Association constitution, the proposed changes, once initially passed by the committee, must be posted for thirty days and then revoted upon to become final.

SGIC Memorandum To Be Posted

The initiating motion was passed after Gilbert G. Gardner '53, proposed posting of the memorandum of the Student Government Investigating Committee, of which he is head. This memorandum contains the details of the proposed changes, as recommended by the SGIC. Besides calling for a direct election of an Inscomm president, the election of a vice-president who would head the executive committee is also proposed.

Special Committees Appointed

Two special committees were appointed, the Field Day Investigating Committee and the All Tech Dance Committee. Members are as follows:

Finance Committee Review

Mathematics Society To Test Calculating Skills Of Freshmen

The Mathematics Society has announced a special freshman mathematics competition to be held Saturday afternoon, December 6, for the purpose of ferreting out mathematical aptitude in the Class of '56. To this end, the Mathematics Department is offering cash prizes worth $35: $20 first prize, $10 second prize, and $5 third prize. The money is taken from a special Putnam Fund.

The examination, which will last three hours, is especially designed to require no knowledge of mathematics, and in so far as possible to test the raw talent of the participants. Thus, M.I.T. grades, knowledge of geometry, etc., have no bearing on the chances of the competitors. All freshmen are invited to take the test and there are no special qualifications. It will be given at 1:00 p.m., Room 2-239.

through the mail

To the Editor of THE TECH:

Isn't it amazing the way some of us revel in the majesty of a fine spirit of class unity and merry joviality. Why some of us are so spirited and jovial, that we wouldn't hesitate for a second before making someone else utterly miserable by carting him off, moneyless, to some place where he has never been. And it is "us" that make "him" miserable—never "me-him" or "we-them." We are only spirited in hordes.

I was playing pool in Ware the Friday before Field Day. A spirited and jovial horde of sophomores—18 of them by actual count—came in and took a guy for a ride. The guy was on the Frosh football team and happened to have a broken finger at the time.

I was also in Philadelphia that weekend, and the first thing I saw in the local paper was an article about how an M.I.T. student had been "rid-den" there, penniless, by a group of spirited and jovial fellow students.

Really, I can't understand all this. Is anything actually gained by pitting one class against another? Does it matter to anyone which class has more points, or more gloves, or more miles added up? I always thought that the sports-events were inter-class because there was nothing else that they could be. There are lots of guys that like a game of baseball or football—well, you must play someone. Why can't it be just the other team, instead of the other class.

Mr. Block, are you afraid to have us called "pantywaist bookworms?" Do you really care what people who just don't know any better think? Do you really think it is necessary for us to show them that we are just "panty-waists"—and not "bookworms." I am sure that if they are the least interested in M.I.T., that that their opinion at all.

No, Mr. Block, school spirit not have to be purposely demonstrated. M.I.T.'s reputation was built around Field Day or Frosh hazing. I think we all have a more than that to be proud of.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

I have a gripe. Many of the presented here at the Institute the type about which nothing can be done. However, I feel that something can be done about this particular gripe which is also the gripe of a large majority of dormitory residents. Many times do you look in your box, see something there, and only open it in anticipation of finding mail, only to be completely disgusted at finding another piece of per advertising the latest undert of one of our numerous activities in some cases even personal advertisements. The "literature" which been distributed of late is of in-

FSSP Committee Is Now Beginning Annual Fund Drive

Two members of the M.I.T. Foreign Student Summer Project Committee, Rudolf E. Kalman, '53 and David Braslau, '56, have spent Nov. 20-21 in New York City, starting off FSSP's fundraising campaign for the Summer Project of 1953.

The committee plans to raise an additional $10,000 from corporation contributions, in order to meet the increased costs which will amount to more than $80,000. The corporations have been asked to contribute $500 each, so that the Project must be "sold" to at least 20 different companies.

Interviewed Top Executives

The two committee members participated in six personal interviews, ranging from Park Avenue to Wall Street and lower Manhattan; in almost all cases it was possible to talk to top executives. With the policy of most corporations not encompassing contributions to higher education (only 0.1% of the corporate net income was given to this purpose last year), this convincing of the "highest-ups" was deemed a necessity if any success were to be realized.

This trip served primarily to explore the situation, and subsequent ones will be made to procure more "concrete" results.

Next on the list of cities to be visited is Philadelphia, and possibly also Baltimore and Chicago. Travel expenses are borne by the committee.

these meetings shall be arranged by the Finance Committee. This motion was passed after some discussion over what constituted "handling $500 per annum."

Incomm also considered another motion by J. Koogler, that "All activities who wish to get a tax exemption shall as soon as possible after the event, submit a full statement of operation, together with any profit, to the Finance Committee, and shall keep their books and records available for inspection by the chairman of the Finance Committee. This motion was also passed after considerable debate, and by a close vote.

Social Calendar to Be Released

The Spring Social Calendar, which has been the subject of heated debate for some time, has finally been passed without a dissenting vote, and will be released shortly together with the Fall Social Calendar.

Who Called It a "Free" Election?

OR

That Stuff in the Ballot Box Ain't Hay

Once there was a Senior who faced a financial impasse. He was, in a word, broke—due to heavy extra-curricular Operating Expenses. He was discussing with his roommate ways and means of climbing back aboard the Gold Standard. "Simple," said the roommate, "just tap the Male Parent for an Advance." "Don't be Dull," answered Our Hero, "I'm already four months ahead on my allowance. And besides, the Head of the Clan is in a Grim Mood. He Dropped a Bundle on the election results." "Oh ho," said his sidekick, "listen..." Our Boy listened. Twenty minutes later he steamed into the Western Union office, his brain-cells bulging with strategy, and dispatched a vital message. To wit: "Dear Dad Went broke backing Stevenson. Know you'll understand. Like father, like son. Please wire me fifty. Urgent. Love."

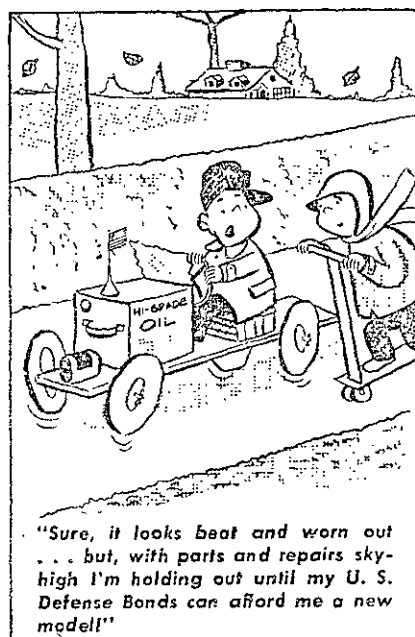

The cash arrived within the hour. By Western Union money order. Our Boy is now working for a Practical Cause—campaigning for presidential elections every year instead of every four.

The moral? Simply this—when you're prospecting for Pecs, there's no more productive probe than a Telegram. Saves time, saves wear and tear, saves answering embarrassing questions. Try it—and don't overlook Telegrams for Detailing Dates, Spreading Smooth Talk, Making an Impression. You'll be surprised—but words via Western Union can do for you.

O., Richard Lindstrom; Adjutant, Mark Schupack; Sergeant Major, Robert Murphy; Personnel Officer, Frank Tudino; Air Provost Marshall, Robert Fahey; Operation and Training Officer, George Dausman; Supply Officer, Robert Gross; Public Relations Officer, Merrill Ebner.

Present at the smoker was Col. Glenn C. Coleman, the newly appointed PASET; Col. Coleman's previous assignment was with the Air Force Research and Development Command at Wright-Patterson Field.

Army Fatigues, Fourrageres Mark Campus Hell Week

Hell Week for all Pershing Rifle candidates started Monday, December 1st at 7:00 a.m. Any early birds who bothered to look across Briggs Field that morning saw a motley crew of men in army fatigues marching in rank and file with M1 rifles on their shoulders. Students traveling between classes couldn't help but notice some of their colleagues in these same outfits with homemade fourrageres. These candidates are required to walk in military style throughout the Institute, cutting corners and saluting superior officers. This daily program will continue throughout the week.

Night Compass Maneuver

Previous to Hell Week, the candidates were loaded into two army buses and taken to the Blue Hills Reservation where they underwent maneuvers at night using compasses. The object of the maneuver was to acquaint the candidates with army field methods of night orientation and infiltration. Several army officers

Infirmity Given Television Set

An anonymous ex-patient has donated a 21-inch Zenith television set to the Homberg Infirmary.

The set, which was delivered a week and a half ago, will be mounted on steel casters so that it can be moved from ward to ward.

The Medical Department staff feels that televised entertainment will provide a real boost to patient's morale, but at least one nurse seems to have her doubts. Shaking her head, she was heard to say, "I'm afraid we're going to have some trouble dragging them away from their books and schoolwork."

watched the proceedings. One particularly humorous incident colored the maneuver. Several couples had sought refuge in the same particular area that had been set aside for maneuvers. Can you imagine how the fellows and their dates felt when from out of the darkness comes two army buses loaded with some sixty Pershing Rifle members and candidates? In the midst of the confusion of military commands and the handling of equipment could be heard the tinkling of beer cans thrown on the ground by the occupants of the fleeing cars. The maneuver was a great success and no one was injured.

The Honorary Society of the Pershing Rifles was founded in 1892 for all those interested in practicing marching, fancy drill and the manual of arms through battalion and regimental parades. M.I.T. was the third company to join this organization.

Through the mail

to a very small number of students as is indicated by the dispatch with which they remove it from their box and deposit it in the wastebasket without more than a glance at it. The situation has now come to the point where it is necessary to clear one's mailbox each day in order to leave room for mail when it comes.

What is responsible for this situation? Why does it exist? The cause can be traced to two sources. First, this is the cheapest and easiest way of telling all the students what you are advertising or sponsoring. Secondly, the blame may be placed partly on those in responsible positions whose permission determines what may or may not be placed in our mailboxes. I think these men should at least use some discretion as to what should and what should not be placed under our noses in this manner. I should also like to point out that one of the worst offenders in placing advertising in mail boxes is the Dormitory Committee, certain members of which have the authority over what goes into our mailboxes other than mail.

Alleviation of this situation would be very simple. The Institute has been well provided with bulletin boards for the specific purpose of advertisement of functions of the various activities. Let's limit this advertising to the bulletin boards. Secondly—require everything which goes into our mail boxes with the exception of Institute business to be properly addressed with names and box numbers; and thirdly, have more discretion used as to what should be placed in boxes and what should not.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

They're made better to taste
cleaner, fresher, smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Because Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette... for better taste—cleaner, fresher, smoother taste... Be Happy—Go Lucky!

An apple used to do the trick,
But grades don't bother me—
I give my prof this one sure tip
That L.S./M.F.T.

COLLEGE STUDENTS PREFER LUCKIES IN NATION-WIDE SURVEY!

Nation-wide survey based on actual student interviews in 80 leading colleges reveals more smokers prefer Luckies than any other cigarette by a wide margin. No. 1 reason—Luckies' better taste. Survey also shows Lucky Strike gained far more smokers in these colleges than the nation's two other principal brands combined.
